

CAMPAIGN TO CONTROL THE HOUSE FLY

Common Menace to the Health of Entire Community

POISON IS EFFECTIVE

Early Start to Control Fly Is Necessary To Success

(By Sadie Kate Bass)

We have all been confronted with the problem of controlling pests that are found in and about the home. Our house flies are not only annoying and disgusting, but are a distinct menace to health. It has been demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that they carry such diseases as typhoid in our country and cholera in foreign countries. This fact alone should make it imperative for us to take every means of keeping the insects from our food. Even if one is not moved by health considerations, the fact that these insects breed in filth should move one to avoid their presence as much as possible.

The most practical thing to do in reducing the number of these insects about the premises, of course is to remove their breeding places. Accumulations of organic materials about the place that might remain to rot and furnish places in which maggots develop, especially animal manures and garbage, should be promptly and regularly removed and either spaded or plowed under or thinly scattered so as to dry out quickly.

In spite of all our efforts in this direction, flies in greater or less number will always come to our homes, possibly from some distant breeding places over which we individually may have no control. Sometimes we may be personally at fault in this respect, because of materials carelessly thrown out the back door that are attractive to flies as food. This would suggest that we exercise care to see that disposition is made of such materials. Screens of 16 mesh, covering both doors and windows are good for excluding flies.

There are several methods of destroying these flies that in spite of what we may accomplish otherwise, reach our premises and get by the screen door. One effective method is by the use of the fly swatter, and money invested in several is well spent. This however, requires active attention on the part of the house wife while flies are being killed, and she is not always able to give the matter the continuous attention that is sometimes required. So another method, that of poisoning, can be used and will work by itself after it has been prepared.

In making this poison we take a bowl or jar of sufficient capacity and pour into it 1/2 cup of sweet milk and 1/2 cup of water. To make the mixture more attractive, (Continued on last page)

Saturday Last Day to Get Homestead Tax Exemption

Tax renditions for 1933 must be made to Burney Slack, Tax Assessor, by Saturday by those who wish to claim exemption to the value of $3,000 on their homesteads.

This exemption applies on homesteads, and for state tax purposes only. The county and school districts will collect taxes on the full renditions.

Mr. Slack has been trying to wind up the assessing for the year in order that all who are entitled to this exemption may receive the benefits.

Pastor Resigns

Filing his resignation to be effective next Wednesday, Rev. L. R. Hudson will leave the pastorate of the local Christian Church after having served the congregation for three years. His work has been most successful, and a splendid growth in the congregation has been the result of his pastorate.

Rev. Hudson states that his family will visit at the parental home in Iowa before making definite plans for the future.

Goodnight Trail to Be Considered Next Wednesday by State

Definite steps toward the establishment of the Goodnight Trail in the Palo Duro Canyon are expected to be taken next Wednesday when a meeting will be held in Amarillo of local and state officials interested in the project.

D. E. Culp, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board, and others from Austin are expected to be in Amarillo at this meeting.

Authority was granted recently to establish two work camps in the Palo Duro under the relief act recently passed by congress, and application blanks are expected within a few weeks.

Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to work out the details of the Goodnight Trail and to work for its completion.

Vital Statistics of Texas Being Tested by Federal Govern't

Boxholders at all postoffices in Texas received two cards Tuesday asking for a report on the births and deaths in their families the past year. It is important that these cards be filled out and returned.

Texas is the only state in the union whose reports on vital statistics are not accepted by the federal government. Inaccurate reports and incomplete reports are charged against the state to such an extent that the federal government is trying to compile statistics of its own.

The following is the state report for Randall county for the past three years, which is being checked:

	1930	1931	1932
Births	101	128	99
Deaths	29	27	42

Two Rains Past Week Bring .41 Inches Moisture

Rain Saturday night amounted to .25 of an inch, which was followed by a rain amounting to .16 of an inch last night.

The north part of the county received some rain and hail Tuesday afternoon, which did not reach to Canyon.

The rains will be of great benefit to wheat, and assist farmers in preparation for their row crop.

College Enrollment Almost Sets a New High Attendance

Fifteen new students have been enrolled in the College for the spring six weeks term which began April 19. This brings the enrollment up to 914, but one under the peak enrollment of 915 in 1929.

It is likely that additional students will enroll yet and that the enrollment of this year will set a new high for the college.

MONEY BILLS STILL BEFORE LEGISLATURE

House Passes Education Bill Without More Reductions

HILL AT AUSTIN

House Committee Not In Favor of Summer Session

No definite action has been taken in the legislature on the appropriation for W. T. either for the summer session or for the coming two years.

The House of Representatives passed the education bill Friday after making some reductions in A. & M. and the University. Other colleges were not discussed, owing to the great reductions made by the committee. The bill will be taken up by the free conference during this week.

The House Appropriations committee voted 6 to 5 against the Senate bill for support of the summer session for this year. Notice of a minority report was given, but no attempt has been made to have this bill printed on minority report.

Dr. J. A. Hill was called to Austin Sunday where he will confer with members of the legislature regarding the needs of W. T.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Braudt and Billie Oatis of Shamrock were visitors over the week end at the parental B. F. Oatis home.

Mrs. Gordon See and son, Stephen, returned Saturday to their home in Tulsa, Okla., after visiting at the parental B. F. Oatis home.

W. L. Lyons Is Employed Deputy For Coming Year

W. L. Lyons was employed at the last session of the Commissioners Court for the coming year as deputy Sheriff and Tax Collector for the north part of the county. Mr. Lyons worked with Sheriff Bob Barnett before the latter was elected sheriff last year and is thoroughly acquainted with the office. He has been employed by the month since last fall, but the court decided that the office must be continued for the purpose of collection of taxes, and for peace purposes in South Amarillo which is in the section served by Mr. Lyons.

Lynn Squires Will Talk to Merchants

Fort Worth Man Closes Lectures Tonight at 8:00 O'clock

Lynn Squires of Fort Worth will speak tonight at the district court room to the business people of Canyon, closing a two days' engagement in the city. Mr. Squires is a sales expert who is sent into various communities of the state in order to assist business and professional leaders. He spoke at the high school yesterday, at the court house last night, and at the College this morning. There will be no meeting this afternoon at the court house.

"It is time to revamp, to rebuild," stated Mr. Squires last night in discussing business conditions. A successful business man must think, act and co-operate. These are the cardinal principals of business. Authorities find that 98% of the American people do not think for themselves, and this is the reason for conditions today. Original ideas are needed to bring a recovery. Too many merchants are sitting down waiting for President Roosevelt to revive the country and bring prosperity.

"The average salesman works only four hours per day," stated Mr. Squires. Most of his time is spent in thinking of an increase in salary, a promotion or a vacation. Unwelcome atmosphere is found in most stores. Mental and physical activity is absolutely necessary in business. People trade with those whom they like, and will go out of their way to trade at stores where they are welcomed.

With standardized merchandise, business in the future will be done on personality. Now is the time to revamp the personality of the store. Too many merchants have old ideas, dead merchandise and dead clerks. The public puts the merchant in business, and takes him out when he fails to show interest in them.

Last Applications on Seed Loans Must be Made by Saturday

The final date for making application for seed loans is Saturday.

County Agent W. H. Upchurch states that he hopes all farmers who wish loans would come to his office Friday or Saturday so that the applications may be made and mailed to Dallas by Sunday.

A large number of checks have been received during the past week on the seed loans which have been approved.

School Census Of County Shows 38 Loss for the Year

Randall county has 38 less children of scholastic age this year than last, according to the census which has been completed. The Canyon Independent School District lost 93 in the census this year, while the common school districts gained 55 children.

The census for the independent district this year shows a total of 715 scholastics, as compared with 808 on the rolls last year. This loss will mean from $1200 to $1500 loss to the district in school apportionment for the coming year, according to J. W. Shanklin.

The common school districts increased from 567 of last year to 612 this year, according to the rolls being compiled in the office of Judge S. B. Orton.

More Than Half Farmers Allowed Crop Applications

Sixty-five crop loan applications have been made by Randall County farmers, and 37 of these have received back checks from the government. By careful preparation and approvals on the part of the local committee very few applications have been rejected this year.

A large number of applications will be mailed by Saturday, which is the last day for filing, unless additional time is given by the government.

J. E. Hill of Amarillo has been in Washington seeking loans for planting winter wheat this fall. Congressman Marvin Jones is sponsoring this bill, which has passed both the House and Senate, and will likely be signed today.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS TO AUSTIN ON LEGISLATION

Judge S. B. Orton, Supt. Irby Carruth, Frank R. Phillips and Fred E. Wortham left Monday for Austin where they will appear before legislative committees regarding pending bills. At the meeting of the County School Board Saturday it was decided that school representatives should go to Austin where important bills are pending this week.

Miss Mary Orton accompanied the party as far as Wichita Falls, and Robert Orton went on to Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Shook of Amarillo spent Sunday at the parental J. W. Shook home.

Emil Brewer Is Named Editor of College Newspaper

Miss Emil Brewer has been named by the Student Council of the College as editor of The Prairie for the coming year. Miss Brewer has been society editor of the Canyon News for the past three years, and has been a student in W. T. since last September. She has been on the staff of the publicity department of the College as well as society editor of The Prairie since entering the College.

Miss Brewer is the third student from the Canyon News staff who has been elected editor of The Prairie, the others being Olin E. Hinkle, now editor of The Pamphlet Daily News, and Edward Gerald, Jr., now professor of Journalism in University of Missouri.

Aln Reed was re-elected business manager of The Prairie.

Martha Nell Lang, Cincinnati junior, was named editor of Le Mirage. She succeeds Farris Sears, and has acted as assistant editor this scholastic year. Kenneth Kendrick, Plainview, will succeed Bob Rowan as Le Mirage Business Manager.

Miss Brewer succeeds Gene Elo.

New Officers Are Nominated Rotary Club for the Year

Officers were nominated Tuesday for the Rotary Club for the new year beginning July first. The nominating committee of Clyde Warwick, Doug Shirley and Wes Kleinschmidt recommended the following names:

President—Dr. Sylvester Ingham. Vice President—Dr. Bob Jarrett. Secretary—Treasurer—Irby Carruth.

Directors—Sylvester Ingham, Bob Jarrett, Irby Carruth, Floyd Savage, Marion Bishir, J. H. Cox, Jr., Oscar Gano.

Visitors present Tuesday were Phil Purdum, Carl Magee, Ross Rogers, Chas. Rogers, L. A. Wells and Clyde Carroll of Amarillo; Lynn Squires and T. J. Moody of Fort Worth; Travis Shaw of Canyon.

Mr. Squires was introduced by Floyd Savage, chairman of the Program Committee, who talked on conditions of today. "If the Code of Ethics of Rotary had been carried out, the depression would never have been known," stated Mr. Squires. During 1927-8-9, the principles of good business were violated so that the depression had to follow.

The speaker stated today politics had about 98% to do with business. He was optimistic of the future, because politics was trying to solve the four major questions: Money, tariff, sensible tax system, unemployment.

Restoration of confidence is the great challenge to business men. Patriotism is needed to a greater extent than it was during the world war. Business is built on character, capital and credit, and the most hopeful sign is that men are rebuilding their confidence in each other.

Possibilities of Palo Duro Park Is Before Legislature

Fred A. Emory of Chicago was here Friday to report to the Chamber of Commerce progress which is being made on the proposed Palo Duro Park. A loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was applied for in January, and seems now to be assured if a bill can be passed before the end of this session of the legislature which would authorize the State Parks Board to sign the notes for this loan.

It is proposed to make this park on 14,000 acres of land controlled by Mr. Emory, all located in the Palo Duro.

Mr. Emory had just returned from Washington where the application for a loan is pending. Various state agencies have approved the park site.

CANYON GOLFERS WIN MATCHES AT AMARILLO

Canyon's golf team won most of the matches played at Hill Crest in Amarillo Sunday against the members of that club.

It is practically assured that no league will be formed this year, but that invitation meets will be held at various times which are said by members to be more enjoyable than the tournament play.

Mrs. Clark Neff of Happy is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Neff.

CLARENDON IS WINNER OF 22 COUNTY MEET

750 Visitors On Campus for League Renewal—High Schools

AMARILLO SECOND

Reavis, Clarendon, High Pointers; Pampa and Amarillo Debaters

Accompanied by scores of W. T. ex-students, now teachers in the 22 counties represented in District One of the Texas Interscholastic League, seven hundred and fifty high school boys and girls assembled here Friday and Saturday for a renewal of the annual athletic and literary events which sends the winners into state competition at Austin next month.

Clarendon, representing Donley County, was the winner of the track and field division this year, displacing Amarillo as district champions, with a total of 31 1-5 points. Amarillo was second with 28 7-10 points, and Pampa third with 21 1-5.

The track meet was held in Bufalo Park. Leadon skied provided a threatening canopy throughout Saturday afternoon while a remorseless north wind whipped the athletes into action. The day, though not ideal, was far from being unbearable as has at times been the case in previous years.

Preliminaries were run off Friday with the finals being held over until Saturday. As many as three and four qualifying heats were necessary in every event, so large was the entrance numbers.

Reavis of Clarendon collected three first places—the high hurdles, the low hurdles, and the 220 yard dash—to win high point honors in the meet. Stewart of Lefors stood in second place with two first places—the 100 yard dash and the broad jump—and one second place, the 220 yard dash. Fox of Garrison was the outstanding performer in the rural pentathlon, scoring 22 points.

A one-armed athlete from Perryton, Mounts, turned in the best individual performance of the two days. The youngster heaved the Javelin 188 feet and 2 inches for a near approach to the district record. Stewart, the only entrant from Lefors, won the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds flat. The state record for high school dash men is 9.8, held by Russell of Hereford.

With nine teams entered, the Amarillo girls' volleyball team won over the Lefors group in the finals.

C. R. BURROW WILL GO TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY

At the meeting of the Amarillo Presbytery last Thursday which was held in Canyon, C. R. Burrow was named a delegate from this Presbytery to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church which will be held in Columbus, Ohio, next month. Mrs. Burrow will accompany Mr. Burrow on the trip, and they will visit the world's fair at Chicago on their return home.

The Canyon Presbyterian Church has been honored in the selection of four delegates to the last five general assemblies of the church.

Recruits To Be Handled Through R.F.C. Committee

In conversation with Wilbur C. Hawk at Amarillo this morning, The News was informed that blanks for recruiting young men for reforestation work would be handled through the local R. F. C. committee. Judge S. B. Orton and Fred E. Wortham handle this work in Randall county.

Mr. Hawk stated that the recruiting blanks should be received in Canyon Friday or Saturday, as they are sent direct from Austin.

Full instructions are given as to recruiting on these blanks, which must be followed by the applicants.

Young men who are interested in recruiting will fill in these blanks at the office of Judge Orton, or Mr. Wortham.

RESULT OF BEER DAYS

Those who imagine that prohibition is not effective in the big cities need only to look at the comparison of conditions today with those before beer was made legal. Conditions were far from ideal before beer returned; but they have not improved and will not improve as long as beer is dispensed through the open saloon, which has not returned.

With all its handicaps, prohibition has been a great improvement over the legal liquor days. The Los Angeles Times, in a recent issue compared the police records for the last thirteen days of the dry law, with the first 13 days after repeal of the dry law with these results.

Last 13 days under dry law	drunkenness	861
First 13 days under repeal	drunkenness	1050
Last 13 days under dry law	drunken driving	28
First 13 days under repeal	drunken driving	45
Last 13 days under dry law	traffic accidents	363
First 13 days under dry law	traffic accidents	507
Last 13 days under dry law	injured in traffic accidents	402
First 13 days under repeal	injured in traffic accidents	695
Last 13 days under dry law	death from traffic accidents	9
First 13 days under repeal	death from traffic accidents	29

These statistics can be repeated in many places. 20 additional deaths in one city in 13 days. It is fearful to look forward to the days before us. To repeal the 18th Amendment would be murderous.

The United States is off the gold standard. That statement means very little to the average citizen. In fact, only those who have made an exhaustive study of economics and monetary systems will be able to really appreciate or understand the significance of the step. It is generally predicted that this means an increase in prices. This will help very little those who do not now have money with which to buy the necessities of life. "Controlled inflation" is the term being applied to the new situation, introducing a new phase of the "New Deal." Be that as it may, all business men realize that only when prices are advancing is there a chance for the average man to make money. The gambler takes his chances on either high or low markets, but for the producer, his only chance is a rising market. If the President will be able to increase commodity prices so that the producer can make a profit, then the rest of us can take care of ourselves thru increased business.

James E. Ferguson has taken note of the failure of the legislature to pass the measures advocated by himself and Mrs. Ferguson during the campaigns last year. He pays his respect to the legislature in last week's issue of The Forum. It looks as though the legislature will pass practically none of these measures, and the Fergusons are calling attention to this as an alibi for the failure of the platform pledges. Let it be known, however, that few legislatures carry out the platform pledges of the governors. Dan Moody fought with the legislature throughout his administration. R. S. Sterling was more successful, but still could not always handle the legislature. Mr. Ferguson makes it plain that he is not mad at the legislature, or anyone else, but wishes to make the Ferguson position clear before the people.

The State and Federal governments are looking ahead to next winter to continue relief work which was started through R. F. C. funds. This is a wise method than strict charity. But one condition has been set forth—no garden this summer means no relief this winter. While gardening is not generally looked upon as profitable in the Panhandle, yet every family which so wishes may raise a lot of things to carry them through the winter. There are plenty of vacant lots in Canyon, and plenty of land near Canyon which should be in gardens.

Prime Minister Ramsey Macdonald of England arrived at the White House and was met on the front porch by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. He expressed surprise at the informality of the occasion.

Be Neutral in Choice of Spring Colors

NEW SWAGGER OR DRESSMAKER'S COATS BUTTON NONCHALANTLY OR NOT AT ALL. HAVE DETACHABLE FUR AND CAPELETS

BY HARRIET

YOUR entire spring and summer wardrobe centers around the coat you have chosen for the Easter parade.

Neutral colors, of course, are best. If you have selected a coat of darkest blue, black, gray or beige, you'll have no trouble with the colors of your dresses the rest of the year.

Coats are buttoned in nonchalant manner this season. Many of them do not button at all but hang loosely from the shoulders. Others are tied at the neck, ascot fashion, or tied at the waistline with a sash or belt.

Whether to choose a coat with fur or one without need cause you no worry this year. Flattering little capelets which fasten under your chin and look for all the world like a lovely collar come off and leave you an untrimmed coat to wear when the weather is warmer or when the occasion calls for something without fur.

Swagger coats cut along raglan lines are smart over suits of matching material. The coat, of course, can be worn without the suit. A printed dress under one of these raglan coats makes an entirely different outfit when it gets too warm to wear both the suit and topcoat.

Swagger coats of three-quarters or even seven-eighths lengths come with their own skirts. Be sure and have one blouse of lame or other formal material so that the skirt and blouse can go to tea or dinner when the coat is removed. Cotton blouses or those of washable silk make it an admirable street costume. And little pullover sweaters put the outfit right in line for country and sports wear.

Of course, if you don't go in for sports things or tailored street clothes the swagger coat is not for you. Your alternative is a dressmaker's coat. These usually are cut to allow fullness above the elbow. Sleeves are not as prominent as earlier in the season but a great deal of attention is centered around the shoulders. The coat hanger silhouette is important on both coats and suits. The idea is to broaden your shoulders with flares, epaulettes, capes or puffs which, in turn, make your hips look very narrow. Nothing makes your hips look so small as wide shoulders on your coat.

Men who are introduced into the presence of the English king must dress up in short pants, and the women must have designated attire. Americans are too busy for such formality. Maybe that is the reason the Europeans usually skin us in diplomatic trades.

Postmaster General Farley has announced that he will not disturb Republican postmasters who are efficient in their work. In view of the fact that the civil service was inaugurated by a Democratic president, Grover Cleveland, it would hardly seem appropriate to revert to the old idea that to the victor belongs the spoils. However, speaking from a strictly Democratic standpoint, who has ever seen a Republican who was efficient in any public job?

It was thought that after the crash in the stock market of October, 1929, that most of the fools had either been fleeced, or would learn their lesson. Yet six million shares were sold two days after the United States went off the gold standard, all on the strength that the public believes that prices will suddenly jump, and the gamblers will all become rich again.

Often it is best to be sure you are right and then stop.

A Ticklish Job

We can think of many more pleasant ways to shuffle off this mortal coil than by tickling a lion. But to Hans Brick, wild animal trainer, it's just so much entertainment. And his cute little charge, Habibi, lion at the Cheshington, England, zoo, takes it lying down, too.

A new spring coat, with cape collar of white Russian ermine on the new diagonal weave cloth, is shown above left. At right, a detachable cape of silver black fox tops off a coat of string-colored hard finish wool. Sleeves, full at the elbow, taper down to a tight fit at the wrists.

Diagonal weaves are popular for tailored clothes of the sports type. The sleeves, full at the elbow, taper down to fit the wrists tightly. The cape collar flares out over the shoulders and gives the desired coat hanger effect. This Schiaparelli diagonal weave coat is very smart with its little ermine cape collar which is detachable. The wool sash is wide in the back and ties at the front in nonchalant manner.

A detachable cape collar of silver black fox on a coat of string colored hard finish wool makes this coat an ideal choice for the woman who doesn't go in for the woman who doesn't go in

PIONEER HALL, BUILT TO HONOR PIONEERS

Welcome Address of Dr. Hill at Banquet

(By J. A. Hill, President, West Texas State Teachers College to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, at its Annual Banquet, April 14, 1933, at 8:00 p. m., at Cousins Hall, featuring the dedication of the Museum Building.)

Mr. President, Mr. Toastmaster, Members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, Ladies and Gentlemen:

In expressing to you, in behalf of the students and faculty of the West Texas State Teachers College, our deep satisfaction with your presence here today and tonight I am constrained to call to your attention the significance of the thing that brings us together at this time.

It is probably true that most men do not realize the extent to which the present is the product of all that has gone before. Whatever of good there is in the world today is here because all down through the ages men and women have dared to live and die by an ideal. They have chosen even at the risk of life itself, to measure human values with an invisible tape—to prefer the unsearchable riches of intellect and spirit to the deadening poverty of matter. They have dreamed of beauty and truth and goodness and virtue and courage and honesty and love, and as a result we of this generation enjoy the blessings of liberty, of law, of equity, of education, of religion, of knowledge, and of all the accumulated achievements and attainments of the multiplied billions who have lived before.

Heritage of Ages
Likewise, all the bad that is in the world today—all the want and hunger and suffering and lawlessness and crime—has come down to us from a perverse past. In all ages there have been men and women who have measured life with visible, tangible, material tape-lines. With such, nothing has had value that did not satisfy a physical want—nothing has been good or great that did not appeal to one of the five senses.

Their animalistic pursuits have vouchsafed to us political instability, insecurity, and injustice and today threaten the government set up for us by our fathers. Their unrestrained selfishness has throttled the avenues of economic liberty and subjected four-fifths of our population to financial bondage. Their unfeeling self-indulgence has lowered the ideals of our people and established a reign of lawlessness that is nationwide. The unhappiness of today is a projection of the sins of yesterday.

Gate Future By Present
Indeed, "we are the heirs of all the ages, in the foremost files of time"; and no people can understand themselves or work intelligently for the future without an appreciation of this fact. If we are to live effectively in the present we must comprehend the sources of our being. We must see the thing we call NOW as the focal point of all the streams of good and bad, of strength and weakness, of truth and falsehood, of knowledge and ignorance, of courage and cowardice, of life and just flowing steadily down to us from the hills of antiquity.

Only as we understand this are we capable of beginning our work for the future. Only as we are able and inclined to select the sound and constructive materials about us are we prepared to discharge our obligations to those who shall come after us. Because of this fact, history, in all its integrity and fullness, becomes an essential instrument in the hands of each generation. Without it, we who would build for the future select our materials as by a grab in the dark and wield our implements in ignorance of their uses.

Seeks to Enrich Future
The work of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society recognizes at once the source of the civilization we find here and the value of its material in building for the future. It seeks to put into the hands of those who would serve both the materials and the implements with which to construct such a future as will be rich in the intangible assets of human life. I dare say that this Society endeavors to transmit, with some improvements, the heritage which its founders and others brought with them to these Plains nearly a half century ago. By the collection of its materials and the erection of its beautiful building this organization is trying to express its devotion to the best that is in our changing civilization.

In an era of distrust and destruction it proclaims its faith in the sublime courage and rugged integrity of all pioneers. At a time when many hitherto well-accepted values have been destroyed and discredited this Society is saying to the world that the permanent assets of life remain intact and yet have power to restore comfort to age and hope of youth. Because of its unflinching desire to pass on to coming generations those invisible and, we hope, indestructible ideals which, in a half century, have transformed the High Plains of Texas, the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society has erected on this campus a beautiful and durable monument.

Members of the Society, in raising this memorial to the spirit of the pioneer, you have chosen to be teachers of the children of men. For generations to come you will be inviting, through your organization and its visible symbols, the youth of this country to follow those principles of life that have made this country great. It is a patriotic service and will yield a cordial welcome to this campus and to the use of its facilities tonight; and, as we dedicate our beautiful monument to the virtues of the pioneer let us reverently and with high resolve re-dedicate ourselves to the faith of our fathers to the end that our children's children, may, like us, enjoy the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Welcomes Guests

Madrigal Club to Give Program at College May 2nd

The annual program of the Madrigal Club will be given next Tuesday evening at the College, under the direction of Wallace R. Clark, head of the Music Department of the College.

New Styles More Colorful Than Ever

YOUR WARDROBE SHOULD CONTAIN A SMART RUN-ABOUT SUIT AND A CHIC DRESS AND CAPE ENSEMBLE

BY HARRIET

AFTER EASTER costumes often are the ones you like best.

You have seen what everybody else is wearing. You know now what you really need. Whatever you have on hand one of two things you're sure to want; first, a smart run-about suit and second, a trig little dress and cape ensemble.

The run-about suit may be a three-piece affair with skirt, blouse and matching jacket or a cape. No longer do coats have to match their skirts. Handsome models are shown—dark skirts with light jackets, or vice versa. Light colored suits have dark blouses and dark suits have the gayest blouses imaginable.

After-Easter outfits give way to a wider variety of color than do regular spring suits which you wore in the Easter parade. You can go out of the range of black, blue, gray, tan and brown. Yellow, cream, green, light shades of blue, lavender and most of all the pastel shades fashion costumes for late spring and early summer wear.

The trick of lightweight wool dresses this season lies in the cut. Skirts which are cut up into the top of the costume give a two-piece effect. Wrap-around models make one think you have on a spring coat. Yes, coat dresses are new and very, very chic.

Some of the fur treatments on dress and cape ensembles are handsome and unusual. Capes edged with fur are smart. Some wool dresses are topped off with removable capes. You wear the cape while the days are cool and remove it when the weather is too warm for fur.

Your accessories, of course, are of paramount importance. Scarfs come into their own. The trick this spring is to have your bag match your shoes and your gloves match your hose. Gay, knotted handkerchiefs instead of the traditional bows are lovely on blouses with run-about suits.

The average length of street clothes is 10 inches from the floor. Perfectly round necklines are shown on capes and cape collars. These are always flattering both to the woman with a short neck and to one who has a handsome throat.

Many jackets are not buttoned. You can wear them loose, swagger fashion, or tie them with a belt or sash.

THE cape costume of lightweight wool looks like a two-piece dress but is really one piece. The handsome elbow-length cape is edged in beige fox which blends perfectly with the color of the wool.

Capes are very good this year and this dress is a particularly lovely model. If you have had a yen for a cape outfit for a long time this is the season to indulge yourself.

A straw hat with a round crown and small brim tops off the cape costume. Brown shoes, a brown bag and beige gloves complete the accessory ensemble.

The two-piece suit is one of those handsome, hand-made models which does not attract attention but makes the wearer know she is dressed in perfect taste.

The skirt is of dark gray wool and the buttonless jacket is of identical material but of a lighter shade of gray. It has a simple V-neck with turned-back lapels. The brilliant red and white striped blouse adds a note of color and individuality. It ties in a bow high at the throat.

Black oxfords are the correct foot gear with such a costume. And a black felt hat.

Canyon Takes Several Places in District Meet

In the track meet held in Canyon April 20 and 21 only a few were able to win.

F. A. Thomas placed second in the 440 yard dash. Although he was handicapped by getting the last lane, his ability to run brought him up with the leaders by the time they got to the curve.

Austin Cone, who ran the mile, also got a lane near the end, but he got toward the front and kept there until the finish. He won second place.

These two boys will go to Austin to the State meet to be held the first of May.

Jack Oldham won in the Spanish contest held in the same meet. Jennie Lee Noble won first place in the arranging of flowers.

The relay team won third place. It consisted of Ed Brooks, Hampton Lisle, Sewell Cox and F. A. Thomas. Hampton and F. A. were the outstanding runners.

Junior Officers Are Outstanding Members of C.H.S.

The officers of the Junior Class for the past year have been very efficient ones.

Scoop Elliston, the president, is one of the most outstanding pupils in Canyon High School. He is on the football team, basketball team, and is captain elect for the football team next year. The Junior Class is proud of this outstanding character.

The vice-president, Owen Miller, is another student whom the Juniors are proud of. He is one of the best guards that ever played football for Canyon High. He is also an outstanding trackman.

Lena Wade Jennings is the secretary of our class this year. She is an excellent pupil. She is giving some of the other Home Ec. girls keen competition in the race to see who will get to go to the clothing contest which is to be at Mineral Wells on May 4th thru the 6th.

Junior Girls Take Great Interest in Pep Squad

The Purple Pep Squad is made up mostly of Juniors. The Junior class has one of the best yell leaders ever known in C. H. S. She has served well and through her influence the interest of the other girls has been kept up.

The junior girls who belong to this organization are: Rosa Cash, Bobby Joe Cheyne, Mary Dowlen, Lena Wade Jennings, Velma Crawford, Gailen Porter, Helen Hardman, Lee Christine Cousins, Alberta Hammond, Athalee Overton, Arm Lee Greenfield, Dora Mae Plaster, Virginia Burgan, Laura Fern Brian, Leona Hardman, Myrtis Wright.

TWO NEW JUNIORS ENROLL
Two girls have recently become members of the junior class. Misses Juanita Smith and Frieda Lowrie who came to our school from Sanford.

Do as you please, if that's your wish, but don't scold others if they do likewise.

School Exhibit Is To Be Held Friday Night

The annual school exhibit is to be held Friday night at the Canyon Public Schools. Each teacher will have their individual exhibits in the various rooms, which will be open during the hours from 3 to 6 Friday afternoon. At eight o'clock the music department will give a short program exhibiting the work of Mrs. Barker as has been done this year. Following this program the P. T. A. and faculty will be in charge of the exhibiting of the work done this year in the rooms of Canyon High.

Everyone is invited to attend the exhibit.

Junior Girls Are Outstanding in School Debates

The junior class has taken quite a stand in the literary events of the year, but Debate has taken the prize. Among those who came out for debate from the junior class were: Arm Lee Greenfield, Robby Lee Foster, Bobby Joe Cheyne and Laura Ferne Brian. Out of these four, three of them lettered. These were Arm Lee Greenfield, Robby Lee Foster and Laura Ferne Brian. Besides getting beautiful pins as a reward for working hard enough to letter, the squad enjoyed several trips to various towns near us. Among the towns they visited were: Lubbock, Pampa, Hereford, Friona and Amarillo. Arm Lee Greenfield was chosen to debate with Kathryn Robinson in the District Meet. The question was: Resolved: that at least one-half of all state and local revenues should be derived from sources other than taxes on tangible property.

Girls Basketball Team of 1933 Mostly Juniors

The girls basketball team of Canyon High School, probably the best in the last three years, consisted of outstanding players from the junior class. Captain Greenfield played guard number one, Athalee Overton played guard number two, Dora Mae Plaster played jump center, number four, Velma Crawford number five, played forward, and Gailen Porter, run center, number seven.

Of the eight letters, five were Juniors, each having lettered the year before, and expect to gain high honors in '33 and '34.

Junior Boys are Outstanding in Athletics

The junior class of 1932-33 has contributed many boys and girls to make the winning teams of Canyon High this year.

In football, five junior boys lettered. "Scoop" Elliston, L. V. Owen, and Wesley. "Scoop" Elliston, who played end, was one of the best players on the team. He could catch passes, run with the ball, block and tackle with great skill. For this and other good qualities of sportsmanship, he was elected captain of next year's team.

Next is Alton Brasuel, who played guard. Although this is Alton's first year, he was one of the best guards we had, and will be back next year.

T. V. Slack, who played half-back and center is a very good man. He can run with the ball as well and block and tackle better than many more experienced men. His outstanding playing was at Berger and he caught the pass that made the only touchdown at Claude.

Owen Miller, a guard, was one of the best men on the team. He played good offensive ball, and many times he came back to the backfield for pass defense and did a very good job of it, too. One of his outstanding games was against Hereford when the game was played there.

Wes Williams, a quarterback, did not play much, but will be back next year.

In basketball there were only two players to letter, Scoop and Wes but Alton and T. V. played in some games. These four players will be back next year to try to get a position on the team.

During track there were several Juniors to come out, but none entered the meet.

Miss Richardson Speaks to Seniors on Browning

Miss Moss Richardson, one of the English instructors of W. T., gave a talk to the eleventh grade at eleven o'clock Thursday. Her subject was Robert Browning, whom the eleventh grade is now studying.

Miss Richardson declared that this was one of the most interesting subjects she knew of and it gave her great pleasure to talk on him.

"But Browning," she declared, "is a very deep subject. I once told Mr. Hamilton that I thought the study of Browning should be put out of the High School. He was greatly surprised, and I explained that I was afraid it might be too early. But he said it was not too deep for High School students."

When Miss Richardson was in Waco, she went to see Dr. Armstrong who had one of the best collections of Browning in the world. He persuaded her to go on a Browning pilgrimage, of which he was to be the head. While on board the ship he instructed the party to memorize the poem, "Home Thoughts from the Sea," by Browning. As they came in sight of the Rock of Gibraltar they said the poem. (Miss Richardson showed a picture of Gibraltar). She said that of all her memories of Gibraltar she remembered it in connection with Browning.

Browning and his sister were great chums. One day she came to him and told of the collection being taken in memorial of the soldiers of France. She wanted him to write a poem which he did. "Hervereal" is the story of a fleet which was to be blown up or given up to the enemy. Young Hervereal took the ship through the pass in safety. When asked what he wanted for a reward, he answered that he wanted a holiday. He wanted one day's vacation to be with his wife.

Miss Richardson showed a picture of a common seaman and then one of a British peasant.

"See the peculiar caps," she said. "I never saw one without it. They wear handsome aprons, too. Their rank is according to the number of aprons they wear. Browning once wrote a poem entitled 'In the Red-Cotton Night Cap!'"

"My Last Duchess" is another good poem written by Browning. A teacher once asked a pupil how he liked Browning. "I hate him for his attitude toward his wife," he declared. The pupil believed that he was talking of his own wife in the poem. Browning was good to his wife. Perhaps it was because she was so hard to get, and he always remembered how near he came to not getting her. Her father didn't want her to marry. If she did he didn't want her to "darken his door" again. Browning married her and carried her off to Italy.

"I was very pleased with the home of the girl, 'My Last Duchess.'" It was called the "Villa D'Este."

"I never wanted to stop and lie down in the shade more than I did then," Miss Richardson declared.

"Guardian Angel," written by Browning is of a boy kneeling before the statue of an angel with his hands clasped. The pilgrimage visited the place where the picture hung, and Dr. Armstrong had written an English copy of the poem and placed it by the picture. A lecturer on Browning took the poem and read it aloud.

"Parasellus" is the story of the first man to break away from the search for the philosopher stone which turned things into gold. His work was to discover medicines which would cure disease. Dr. Armstrong stood by the grave of Parasellus and read the poem.

Browning didn't write much on Spain, but Miss Richardson read one of a Monk who hated a gardener because the latter was not as religious as he.

Browning's son had bought a palace in Venice and when Browning became ill, he was carried there. In this palace Browning died on Dec. 12, 1889. His remains rest in Westminster Abbey.

"Robert Browning believed that heaven meant for him a reunion with his wife, and I believe that he was not disappointed."

After telling a few facts concerning the family of Browning, Miss Richardson concluded her talk. If she enjoyed talking to the seniors, they even more so enjoyed hearing her.

Some men are so considerate they jump every time their wives speak.

The junior class has enjoyed several parties and picnics during the year.

On March 31, all the juniors entertained the seniors with an outing at Tyson Cox's home. All sorts of outdoor games were played. After everyone had worked up an enormous appetite a large picnic supper, was enjoyed by all.

The following night, April 1, the juniors enjoyed a party in the gymnasium. This party was given to make money to use as votes for Athalee Overton and Alton Brasuel, the Junior candidates for King and Queen. Everyone who went paid a penny for each year of their age. Games were played the first part of the evening and doughnuts and cocoa were served later.

EDITORIAL

When the earth was created twelve hours of the day was made light by a big sun, and was called day. The other twelve hours of the twenty-four hour day was called night. Adam and Eve spent the first day in the garden wandering around looking at their first home, getting acquainted with their animal friends and tasting the fruits and berries. When darkness came on they had begun to feel tired. Before the sun had been down two hours, the first man and woman of the world, had fallen asleep. Every day after, the twenty-four hour day has been divided this way.

When we were two or three years old we were put to bed at eight o'clock and slept until the sun rose the next morning. We slept there because our mother told us to, but when we became older, maybe four or five years old, we found that we were glad to see nine o'clock come around because after a hard day of play we were tired. However, there were some disagreeable things about going to bed at this age, especially in the summer, because then is the time for going barefoot and you always have to wash your feet before crawling in between mother's clean white sheets. Even this does not ruin your sleep because the next morning you still hate to crawl out of bed. Then when you start to school, the teacher, sometimes seems to forget what the night is for and assigns enough lessons to keep you at work all night, but when 10:30 or 11 o'clock rolls around, you just can't hold your eyes open any longer, so your lessons are forgotten until seven or eight o'clock the next morning when Dad calls, "Get up son. Mother says you haven't finished your lessons. You'd better study a while this morning." I found that when you sit up late to study your lessons, then the next day at school, you make up for the loss in sleep by sleeping about half of every period.

Some of the other times and places for sleeping is at church. Nearly every Sunday at least one or two deacons go to sleep after the collection is taken up and wake up just in time to sing the closing song. Some people find it convenient to sleep while driving a car. Often this kind of driving is disastrous not only to the sleeping driver, but to the passengers. After a large dinner like everyone has on Christmas, the heavy eater nearly always fall asleep about dish washing time. Either heavy eating or dish washing is a sleep powder.

The importance of sleep is shown by the fact that everyone, nurses, mothers, and coaches urge at least eight hours of sleep for the growing school boy and girl. The coach always urges sleep, especially before a big football game. The best trainer, the best player and the star player can usually be found in bed about 10:00 or 10:30 every night.

Only by reading a portion of Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanac," can we really sum up the importance of sleep. Here we find that often repeated but seldom carried out philosophy of "Early to bed; early to rise. Makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise."

FDR's New Bill Aims to Save U. S. Homes From the Sheriff's Hammer

DESIGNED to aid the small home owners staggering under a $20,000,000,000 mortgage debt, President Roosevelt's new home mortgage relief bill, it is predicted, will save home owners millions of dollars in interest annually and will keep thousands of homes from going under the sheriff's hammer.

With approximately three-quarters of the nation's homes under mortgage, and with their owners finding it increasingly difficult to keep up their mortgage payments, the president took cognizance of the seriousness of the situation in his message introducing the bill in Congress. "The broad interests of the nation," said his message, "require that special safeguards should be thrown around home ownership as a guaranty of social and economic stability."

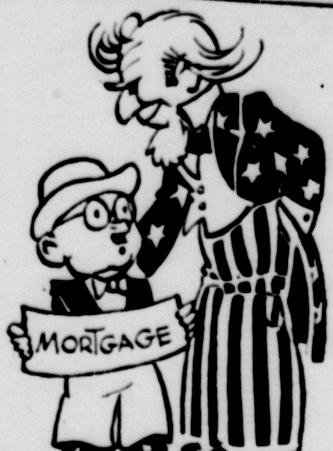

The home mortgage relief plan would protect owners of homes valued at not more than $10,000 from foreclosure and from being made to pay exorbitant interest rates. It calls for the setting up of a Home Owners' Loan Corporation, to provide direct and immediate relief to small home owners and holders of small home mortgages. This corporation, organized and operated by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, is to have a capital of $200,000,000, subscribed by the treasury. The H. O. L. C. may issue four per cent bonds to the full amount of the $200,000,000. These bonds would be exchanged for mortgages on homes not exceeding $10,000 in value, up to 80 per cent of the property value.

ASSUMING that Mr. Blank is the owner of an $8000 home, on which there is a mortgage of $6000 which he cannot carry, here is how the new home mortgage bill would aid him:

He would approach the corporation and explain his situation, show that he was paying six per cent or more interest, give evidence of his reliability, and reveal why it is impossible for him to carry the mortgage.

Convinced that Mr. Blank's case deserved its attention, the corporation would get in touch with the holder of his mortgage. It would try to secure from the holder a reduction of the mortgage to, let us say, $5000. If it succeeded, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation would then trade with the holder, giving, in exchange for the mortgage, $5000 in the corporation's four per cent bonds.

Mr. Blank would then be pre-

sented with a new $5000 mortgage, bearing five per cent interest and payable in monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or annual installments—whichever term he preferred—over a period of 15 years.

Should he need some money for repairs or other expenses of the property, he could borrow from the corporation, and the loan, at the five per cent rate, would be added to his $5000 mortgage.

If it should be impossible for Mr. Blank to make any payments on his new mortgage for an indefinite period in the future, the corporation may grant him a three-year suspension of payment—but he would be required to pay after that time. The payments are to be made to a local savings and loan association properly accredited by the government. In localities where there are inadequate savings and loan associations, or none at all, such institutions would be set up by the government. These associations would have $100,000,000 provided by the treasury to start the system.

IN addition to relieving the wage earner of the worry incident to possible loss of his home, the president's plan is calculated to release billions in potential credit and purchasing power of the home owner, and, likewise, to release to mortgagees sums which should be playing their part in the revival of business generally and in industrial reconstruction.

BUFFALOES TO MATADOR LAND NEXT FRIDAY

Burton Will Take Full Squad to Lubbock; Refuses Prediction

ANNUAL GAME

Old Hands to Form Main Offense; Tech Said Be In Rare Shape

In an ever-thrilling exhibition of the Spring Term, a luxury in the collegiate sports world, the Buffaloes will meet the Lubbock Tech Matadors in the only spring football game of the spring at Lubbock Friday night. Burton will take 35 men from the W. T. campus for the battle.

The Buff mentor refused to predict either victory or defeat for his proteges yesterday. "Wait until the game is over" he is quoted as saying. He also refused to reveal his starting lineup. It is safe to say, however, that Captain Williams, Morgan, Spence, (if that husky is sufficiently recovered from injuries to a hand), Brotherton, Martindale, Moore, and several others will all see service in the back field before the game is finished.

Fortenberry, Higgins, Duncan, Lovelace, and one or two other lettermen will form the nucleus of the forward wall. Youngsters who are willing but inexperienced will aid them.

Tech, it is reported, has had 75 to 100 men working out daily for several weeks. They are regarded as the probable winners—but the fortunes in football are fickle, and a hard-working Maroon and White outfit cannot be designated as underdog in all respects.

It is hoped that a cheering section from the College will accompany the team.

New Members Are Named for College Board of Regents

A news item of more than passing importance to this college was carried by the daily press a few days ago. It announced the appointment of three new members to the Board of Regents governing this and other Teachers Colleges.

The newly appointed men are: Hon. T. C. Andrews, McKinney; Dr. J. G. Ulmer, Tyler; and Hon. Ward Templeman, Navasota.

Mr. Andrews is an attorney and devotes much of his time and attention to agricultural and related pursuits. He has always been active in civic and political life in Collin County and is well and favorably known over that section of the state.

Dr. Ulmer is a minister of the Christian Church and a former pastor in Tyler. He is a man of unusual educational attainments.

Mr. Templeman is president of the Navasota Telephone Company and has extensive business interests in Southeast Texas.

These gentlemen come to the Board of Regents at a critical time in the history of the Teachers Colleges in this state. It is hoped that they will quickly come to understand the problems now confronting them and the Colleges.

They replace W. Z. Hayes, Dallas, W. C. Crane, Franklin, and Dr. Webb Walker, Ft. Worth. Mr.

Hayes has served on the Board for many years and has rendered a splendid public service. Mr. Crane and Dr. Walker have not been on the Board an equal length of time but have made for themselves valuable places in the service of the Teachers Institutions. All three of them will be remembered many years for their unselfish devotion to the welfare of the Teachers Colleges.

Every citizen should vow that he, 4.1, will not drink too much 3.2.

In Joe Judge, Whom They Got From Washington, the Brooklyn Dodgers Have Their Best First Baseman Since Daubert

BY PHILIP MARTIN

PROBABLY the most beneficial deal the Brooklyn Dodgers made in many moons was that one whereby they obtained Joe Judge from the Washington Senators.

Joseph Ignatius galloped over the Capital's sod for some seventeen years, doing a good job at first base. And it's the acquisition of Joe that's going to make the Dodgers' initial sack all that it hasn't been since the days of Jake Daubert.

A lad named Del Bissonette has been working around Flatbush's first base for a while, but Del became one of those ailing ball players last season and his work wasn't up to snuff.

"One of the smartest first basemen the American League ever saw," is the way Connie Mack sizes up Judge. And that recommendation should be enough for any National League squad.

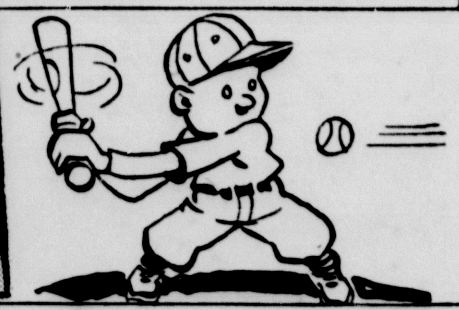

Joe's work during the spring training season this year was inspiring. He hit an even 300 in 16 games, and his fielding was flawless. He's going to make Bissonette hustle to hold his job, and one slip by that fellow and you'll see Joe playing regular ball for the Flatbush Foolishness Boys.

ONE of the classiest rookie hurlers to ever hit the big leagues is now the property of Stanley Harris' Detroit Tigers.

He is Lynwood Thomas "Schoolboy" Rowe, college basketball and football star from Texas who weighs 205, stands six feet four inches, and can wallop the old onion as well as he can throw it.

Every year there is one standout hurler in the American League. Of course, it's early to say that Rowe will be that pitcher, but his early season performance against members of the circuit shows that the boy has a world of stuff and a batting punch that would make a felder green with envy.

Last year with Beaumont in the Texas loop he took part in 31 games, winning 19 and losing 9.

and fanning 167 batters during 235 innings he worked. That's a pretty fair sort of a record for a rookie to lug into the big leagues with him.

AND speaking of ball players—the Pirates have, in young Floyd Vaughan, a gent who threatens to be the best shortstop Pittsburgh has had since the days of old Hans Wagner.

Vaughan is now under the tutelage of the old master himself, and if Wagner can work into the Pirate youngster's head a bit of that old cunning of his, Vaughan is on the road to stardom.

The kid got the Pirates' first home run of the year recently, and he hasn't been so notable for his long distance hitting. Perhaps the old Ditchman's teaching is bearing fruit already.

The Prairie Wins Prizes in T. I. P. A. Annual Meeting

The Prairie, student newspaper of the West Texas State Teachers College placed second in the Class B division at the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association meeting held at Kingsville April 13, 14, and 15th. The paper edited this collegiate year by Gene Elio, was awarded the place after a close judging of content and general appearance.

The college was awarded two firsts, a second and a fourth in the literary divisions. Emil Brewer won first place with a poem, "Sand," and first with a serious short story, "A Woman's Place." C. B. Shepherd placed second with an essay, "The Bells of Nantes," and Ernest Cane with a feature story, "Mr. Sheffy's Ire."

The West Texas State Teachers College held fourth place in the general association with a total of 75 points.

The Prairie is printed in the plant of the Warwick Printing Company.

add 1 teaspoonful of brown sugar and stir it thoroughly until dissolved. 2 teaspoons of ordinary commercial formaldehyde, stirred in makes the liquid poisonous to flies. Sometimes this mixture is slightly acid and repellent to flies, so we add just a pinch or two of hydrated lime, such as is obtained at any lumber yard.

Now this solution is ready for use and should be poured into saucers or shallow pie tins. It will be more convenient for the flies to alight if a stale piece of bread is placed in the saucer or pan.

A kind of self feeder may be used in presenting the poison to the flies. Take a glass tumbler, fill it half full of the poison solution, cut a round piece of blotting paper slightly larger than the mouth of the tumbler, and invert a saucer over this. Hold the saucer down firmly and quickly turn tumbler and saucer over. Not so much solution that it will spill over the saucer, yet always enough for the hungry unsuspecting fly.

These baits should be placed in the sill of a window with partly raised shade, the room being otherwise darkened. The mixture is poisonous and should be kept out of reach of children.

Screen traps, of the cone type, that we can build at home, are very valuable to use outside the house.

W. T. Track Men Defeated Friday by Tech Outfit

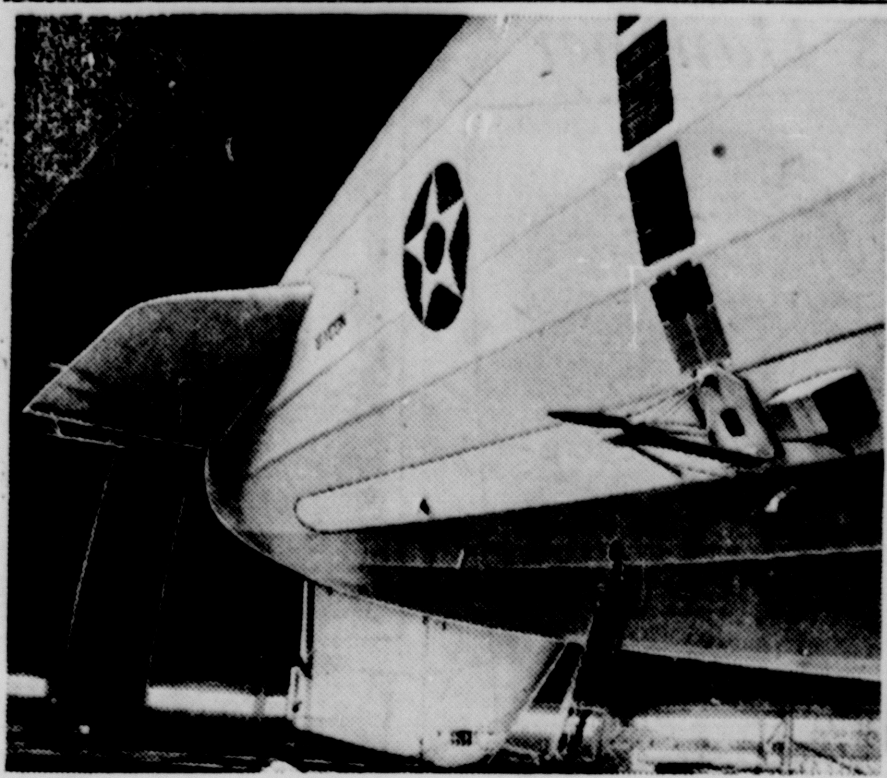

Composed of eighteen men, most of whom are inexperienced, the W. T. track team met their masters at Lubbock April 21 when the Tech crew sent them home sweltering under a stinging defeat, 80-44.

At that, though, W. T. furnished the high point man of the meet. Fayette Rudolph, versatile West Texas student, copped three first places for 15 points. He took the 220 yard low hurdles, the 120 yard high hurdles, and the shot put.

It was the Buffs' first try-out of the season, and, it might be said, the first in two years inasmuch as W. T. did not compete in intercollegiate track last year. Burton's men have worked out three days a week this Spring—if the weather permitted. However, the squad showed signs of developing into a fair track aggregation upon the completion of football training so that full time may be devoted to the sport.

They will get their second introduction to the cinder path May 6 when Southwestern Teachers, of

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES

Member of Congress from Texas.

I am convinced that a controlled expansion of the currency will not only materially increase farm prices but that it is essential to complete national recovery. The dollar is supposed to be a measure of values—a medium of exchange.

We often speak of using dollars to purchase commodities. That depends upon which side of the bargain the trader is located. One man uses money to purchase wheat. The farmer uses wheat to purchase money. When one borrows money to be repaid in the future, it is essential to fairness that the value of that dollar remain substantially the same, measured in the terms of the general commodity price level.

Here is where the hitch comes. Translated into farm commodities, the dollar is worth twice what it was worth a few years ago. The private debts of America run into staggering billions. It is impossible to pay these debts with dollars of the increased value of today. Yet the obligation rests not only upon the farmer but upon other producers and upon manufacturers to pay these debts with greatly appreciated dollars. This is responsible for a great deal of the grief and stagnation from which the country has been suffering.

The strange part about this whole situation is that the debts we owe, we owe to each other. Not a dollar is owed abroad. Yet both agriculture and commerce have been chained and almost destroyed by the high price dollar.

The credit of the country has been so greatly contracted that the only practical way to offset it is through an adequate supply of money on a sound basis.

Currency and credit are like other commodities. When they are plentiful they are low in price. When they are scarce they are high in price.

Of course, no one wants printing press money. On the other hand, no thinking person wants money so high-priced that it becomes a hindrance rather than an aid to commerce and exchange.

Foreign countries have, by revaluing their unit of money on a lower basis, practically destroyed the market of the surplus farm products of America.

Any expansion should be properly controlled. Germany went to the extreme by increasing the volume of currency to such an extent as to practically cancel all debts. This was her deliberate purpose. For the last three years we have been going to the other extreme by contracting currency and credit to such an extent as to make payment of debts practically impossible. France, on the other hand, took the middle position, revaluing the franc on such a basis as to make payment of debts possible and yet at the same time increasing to a reasonable degree the farm and general commodity price level.

Through a reasonable increase in the volume of the currency, which can be kept on a sound basis, the prices of farm commodities can be materially increased, debts can be paid, and conditions restored. Money is the life's blood of the nation. One might have a perfect body, but if he had only half enough blood he would suffer torture. On the other hand, if he had too much blood he might suffer from high blood pressure. If he has a sufficient amount of blood his health conditions become ideal.

Properly controlled expansion of the currency merely means restoration to the normal flow of commerce and trade—a restoration of commodity prices to the point where they would be fair to everyone. Such a step is essential to the proper working out of the different steps in the President's program for national recovery.

The action of the President in approving an amendment granting authority to restore the currency to a proper basis has had a very fine effect on the general commodity price level. The Speaker has designated me as one of the conferees to consider this amendment when it comes to the House. I am in hearty accord with its purposes and expect to urge early adoption by the House. I believe it will do more than anything to restore confidence and to bring back prosperity.

As Flood Hit Philadelphia

The plea, "River, stay away from my door," evidently went unheeded here, when the Tincum bottomlands of Philadelphia were inundated by waters from the overflowing Schuylkill and Delaware rivers. This home, and many others, were virtually isolated by the flood waters. Residents of this district have applied for government aid in flood control.
